INDIANAPOLIS BOND BANK LAUNCHES NEW WEB SITE

PORTAL WILL BETTER SUPPORT INVESTOR RELATIONS AND TRANSPARENCY EFFORTS

INDIANAPOLIS, MAY 18, 2015 —The Indianapolis Bond Bank today launched a new website designed to support investor relations and provide greater transparency. The site, www.indianapolisbondbank.com, provides visitors with a comprehensive, easy-to-navigate overview of the Bond Bank's operations, projects and policies.

“We wanted to create a central site where existing and potential investors could find information on our debt and the projects funded with bond proceeds,” said Bond Bank Executive Director Greg Clark. “The Bond Bank plays a key role in many of the city's greatest development and revitalization success stories, and in addition to creating a site that will help potential investors find information, we also wanted to make key documents easier for the public to access.”

The site represents a new level of transparency for the Bond Bank. Featuring everything from the results of the Bank's annual audits and the minutes of its board meetings to governing documents and board resolutions, it provides a trove of information about the Bank and the municipal debt programs it administers. It also includes a new Annual Bond & Note Report – a comprehensive summary of all Bank debt, categorized by revenue source and divided by qualified entity.

“The new site really provides us the means to begin a strategic and purposeful investor outreach program,” said Clark, “and the Annual Bond & Note Report is the first step of this program.”
